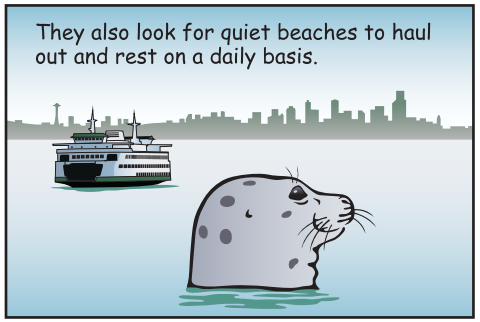
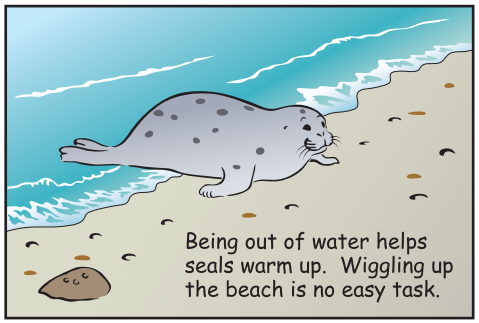
Share the Shore

Even though harbor seals call the ocean their home...

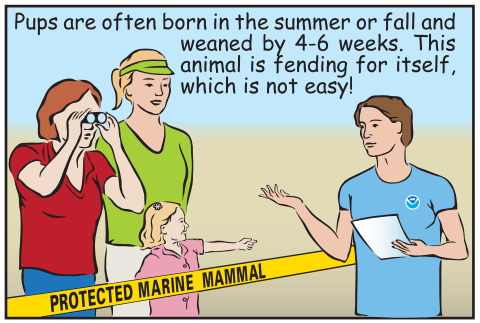


They also look for quiet beaches to haul out and rest on a daily basis.



Being out of water helps seals warm up. Wiggling up the beach is no easy task.

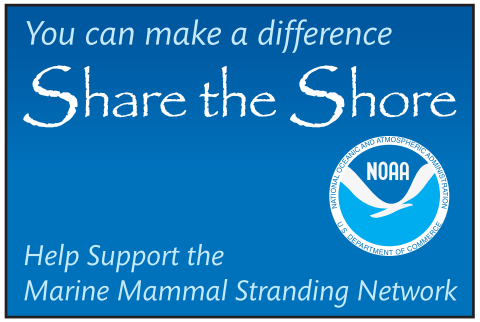
We are so lucky to see them in the wild!
Is this lonely seal O.K.?



Pups are often born in the summer or fall and weaned by 4-6 weeks. This animal is fending for itself, which is not easy!
PROTECTED MARINE MAMMAL

Thanks for keeping your dog on a leash. This keeps both animals safe.
WARNING!

Help us spread the word to Share the Shore and admire from a distance!
© 2012 Uko Gorter



You can make a difference
Share the Shore
NOAA
Help Support the
Marine Mammal Stranding Network